And the only reason you have to assign for approving these affidavits at a different time is you might be advised by the hearing of a few cases whether it was proper to go on with the hearing of the others.--A. Yes, sir; in many instances. Q. That reason would not apply unless they were all of the same character. How could you be assisted at one hearing of a case unless they were of the same character?--A. These cases generally were in this way where one man would make several complaints and he would give the name of witnesses. In order to see the character of the case as made by him and the testimony of witnesses as put down as it applies to that particular section of...
