Trafford Publishing, Canada, 2009. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 246 x 175 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.As the subject matter of this writing covers the experiences and, therefore, conclusions of an American born Black woman from the south in the 1960 s through 2000 s, the reader(s) should be braced for some very glaring, and no doubt, very disturbing facts covered in these experiences. One definitely should not be confounded by the author s conclusions. Being from the Gateway to the South, better known as Kentucky, patriotic fervor as well as utter devotion to one s country is instilled in the marrow of our bones in that state. We who are African-American (as we are now known) have just as much loyalty to the land as any and all else. And just as it was then in the 60 s through the 80 s, so it still is in the 90 s through the present, 2006, we still find those in power in our beloved land retaining the same unwillingness to welcome us into fully sharing in the democratic process, and enjoying the benefit of financial inclusion, as well. The preface of this book of memoirs includes one of several incidences while I was still in my single-digit years of age, among which were my Caucasian elementary school teachers not being happy with my love of books, and my desire to write one of my own while still in the 2nd grade. Some improvement was experienced when I went to 6th grade with my large and friendly platinum-haired teacher, Mrs. Handy. There was a national writing contest held by the American Legion in 1968 on, What The American Flag Means To Me. The prize to be awarded was $25. I won the contest. The...
