OCLC Number: 10944146 Excerpt: . . . 1 CRITERIA FOR CL and SSIF: YING , MAJOR TRAFFICKERS VERY-BROAD The federal strategy for drug law enforcement, BS noted generally, states that federal efforts should be directed toward destroying drug enterprise and prison by identifying and targeting traffickers. However, at the highest echelon, the criteria for classifying major (class I) violators are too broad to gauge the success of DEA's investigative efforts directed at these individuals and traffickers convicted under the Continuing Criminal Enterprise statute, the trafficker must be a person who occupies position of authority over five or more people from which a substantial income is derived as part of a series of violations. 17 to 20.) Wee PP , Although major drug organizations are the mainstay of illegal trafficking, only one of the six criteria used to classify a person as a class I violator specifically applies to the head of an organization. any of the other five positions--laboratory operator, financier, , key conspirator, regulator of supply--could be acting, pursuant, Persons occupying these positions can alone play a significant role in the drug trade. only one position--head of a criminal organization--would always be in the highest echelon (See pp. 20 echelon of a drug organization. and 21. f Because of these broad criteria, traffickers within the class I category often are not operating at the highest echelon of a drug organization. In the 50 best class, I cases--organization. cases selected by DEA as representing their best efforts against major traffickers--closed 1980 1982 in fiscal years through at the New and San. Diego DEA district,...
